Seriousness and anxiety are signs of effort, and conscious effort is a sign of imperfect mastery. A tense writer is usually awkward and ill at ease. After all, only he who handles his hand and pen easily is master of his pen, and he who is master of his pen is never enslaved by it. A well-trained hand seldom gets in its own way. Try to keep a safe and sane balance between the use of arm, hand and fingers in all handwriting. The practice and courage to do this stamps one as being efficient and intelligent. All you need to succeed is to possess ordinary qualities but to develop them in a more than ordinary degree. Real skill Genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains, but at the same time writing with ease control and fluency speed.

Felt the urge to contact some of yester-year's associates, so head the list with this.

Since my siege of combined flu-pneumonia, a year ago last Jan., my nerves interfere so, that I neglect my correspondence. But I suppose this is to be expected at 86 +. Am slowly regaining normal weight.

Are you still in public school work? What of your family-pleasure activities etc.?

Hear from Mr. Sheridan about once a year. Wonder how he holds up physically. He doesn't say.

I replied, on Jan. 24, 1944, to your fine letter of "5/4/43", but find none later in my files, from you. Hope illness isn't the cause.

Mrs. Hoff and I are remaining quietly at home during these upset times. Her health is none too good, and I have had a turn with flu.

Am wondering if you are still "in harness", or are enjoying a well earned rest.

How has the war affected your family? Our younger son, and daughter, from Calif., visited us recently. He has been 12½ years with the navy, and coast guard. Now with the Pacific fleet. Our 10 yrs older son served in W. War 1.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Elmer Ward Bloser

At nine o'clock Sunday evening, May the twelfth, Mr. E. W. Bloser suddenly died at his home in Columbus, Ohio. after serving fourty four years as a promoter of Good Handwriting. His passing came at the high point of his years of usefulness. His last day was as happy, helpful and peaceful as he ever spent. He lived to the end of the journey a full, serious, purposeful life, embellished with a spirit and humor as rich as they were rare. His charming personality and thorough scholarship were reflected by his many interests, but more completely through his service to his home, neighborhood and to the Zanerian College of Penmanship of which he was the head. The loss to us of his business ability, advice and professional worth is great, but the loss of his warm, encouraging friendship can never be replaced. There will be no change in the plans and high hopes of The Zaner-Bloser Co. He and we made provision against that day. A reconsecration to maintain the lofty standards of our departed leader has been made by every individual connected with this institution.

My dear Doner:

Your letter of January 1 regarding our penholder has just been received and I note that you still favor the six inch length.

We do not have the six inch holder in stock. We simply made up some different lengths to send you samples.

We shall consider the matter of having some made that length.

We intend stocking a Double Holder about five and one fourth inches in length, a few samples of which I am sending you by this mail. Parker is back of this holder.

It occurred to me that you might prefer this Double Holder to the six inch length of the regular shape.

Let me know what you think of it. The idea is that a pen for red ink and a pen for black ink can be used in the holder at the same time, thus doing away with the necessity of changing pens when changing inks. Of course others prefer this holder even when but one pen is used. Two pens need not necessarily be inserted.

This holder sells for $6.40 a gross, carriage charges prepaid.

We were very glad that you can arrange to go to Portsmouth, New Hampshire, to speak to the teachers there on Handwriting. I hope they will be ready to consider Correlated Writing. I know that you will do all that you could reasonably be expected to do to persuade them to adopt it.

We surely appreciate, Doner, what you are doing to find a young man to represent us in the East. We need a man badly, but it is not the easiest thing to find the right person.

By the time this reaches you, you will no doubt be very busy with your school work and you need not attempt to answer promptly.

My dear Doner

Your favor at hand — I have signed here for the coming year so could not consider St. Paul offer. I heard from them a short time after signing here but had to tell them I was engaged for the coming year. I am not sure who sent my name to them, but thought it must be either yourself Gaylord or Lehman. Lehman told me of the opening during the winter but I never put in an application on account of the location. so I passed the information along to Gaylord.

I spent six months some years ago in Minneapolis and the winters are very long and very cold, although St Paul is a beautiful city.

My salary here is $1750 but I would be willing to accept a somewhat smaller offer, if I could land a supervisorship. Gaylord is evidently on the alert for me, but I have not been able to connect with anything he has sent along.

I am very grateful to you Mr Doner for taking up my cause and want to reciprocate when the opportunity comes

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Doner,

I've turned out to be a bad correspondent over here, but life has been so monotonous that there isn't much will to write and especially here in Germany. We are all waiting (some patiently and others impatiently) to get home where we belong. Our morale, at times, was scraping the bottom.

Everyone knows, in the army we are told what to do when, how and where, and after three years of this, you yearn for civilian freedom.

Yes, we've seen Europe, its peoples, its customs, and we admit, without hesitancy, that our country is "tops." There's nothing like it. We want to go home and share this freedom and happiness with our friends and loved ones.

I fall in one of the lowest point categories here in Europe - 55 points. This means that I'll be one of the last to leave. As the schedule stands, our shipping date should be in January or February of next year.

Mr. Doner, although I knew you were planning to retire from teaching, I was somewhat perturbed to read about it in the Educator. I was hoping to see you at Salem when I returned to the U.S. You can rest assured that no pupil of Mr. Doner's will ever forget him.

Always, you have my wishes for your continued health and happiness.

Dear Mr. Doner,

Your letter of the 9th ult. reached me after much delay. I have not been with the Edmiston Academy of Business since Dec. last. Your letter was sent there and undoubtedly remained in the school office some time before being forwarded to me.

I am at present keeping books for one of Buffalo's large business firms, and giving instructions in penmanship and bookkeeping to a few private pupils.

It is my opinion that Business Colleges in this city are not doing well financially. I have had positions offered me by the best, but have come to the conclusion that they are all alike when considered from a financial standpoint.

I was much pleased to hear from you and to learn that you are going to give a course in the Business Educator. With your ability and experience the fraternity may certainly expect something good.

I have noticed that pupils admire most in Penmanship Journals, flourishing, movement exercises, capital letter exercises and accurate forms.

Students who practice from the copies generally select copies written in good form regardless of speed or practicability. I would therefore suggest that the copies be prepared with a view of being attractive.

Perhaps a course containing a variety of movement exercises, sentences, business forms etc. would be best. I also believe that the instructions should be somewhat brief. I think it would be well to mention briefly in the first lesson the value of good material, position, movement, etc. and in the following lessons, take up one subject at a time and explain more fully, i.e. with one lesson explain penholding, with another lesson position, in another movement, etc.

With best wishes for your continued success, I am,

My work at school has been progressing rapidly and well. However, the short time in which I have to complete the required work, is not sufficient to warrant the best results. I could accomplish the desired end, if I chose to devote all of my time to my studies. That, of course, is not true of myself; I, too, must find time for enjoyment, even though dancing is not of the highest order.

I shall plan to make a visit to Bridgewater soon. May I be allowed, at that time, to teach a lesson? I shall welcome the opportunity!

Yours of the 7th inst at hand — enclosing Memorial on the death of our friend Madarasz — Of course I shall do my best to get up something artistic & appropriate for the occasion for I have known his wife almost as long as I had known him, which was something like thirty years or more —

I was greatly surprised when I learned of the sad termination of Madarasz's career. I was well aware of the bad state of health he had been in for a couple years or so previous to his death — but still I somehow felt that he would recover & be himself again, and therefore was not expecting to hear of ~~his~~ his death —

I regret very much that he has passed away as we were good friends and his genius in his special line unequalled — He was always a frequent visitor at my place

As to your request for suggestions for your lessons in the "Business Educator" I have only to say that I do not think you need any from me. I would not know how to advise you.

By the way, if I may read between the lines, your reference to another journal seems to indicate that your relations with the editor were not entirely satisfactory. If that is true, may I be bold enough to ask whether the Editor in question has any peculiarities which make him an unsafe person with whom to do business?

I have always regarded him as a very courteous, christian gentleman.

Dear Mr. Doner,-

I mail you to-day a set of the Berry Writing Books, as requested, and I shall be very grateful for your opinion of them, whether favorable or not. They were planned by Mr. Berry, in the main, with many suggestions from myself and others. The script I prepared, but some of the forms of letters were suggested by Mr. Berry. As far as I have learned they seem to strike the popular taste. Two more books are to be added.

I hope you can go to Balt.

If I go, I think I will go Thursday afternoon or evening.

What is the extent of your vacation? I would be delighted if you could spend part of your vacation with me. I am expecting Mr. Healey to stop on his way to the Convention. I have no vacation except Good Friday and Easter Monday.

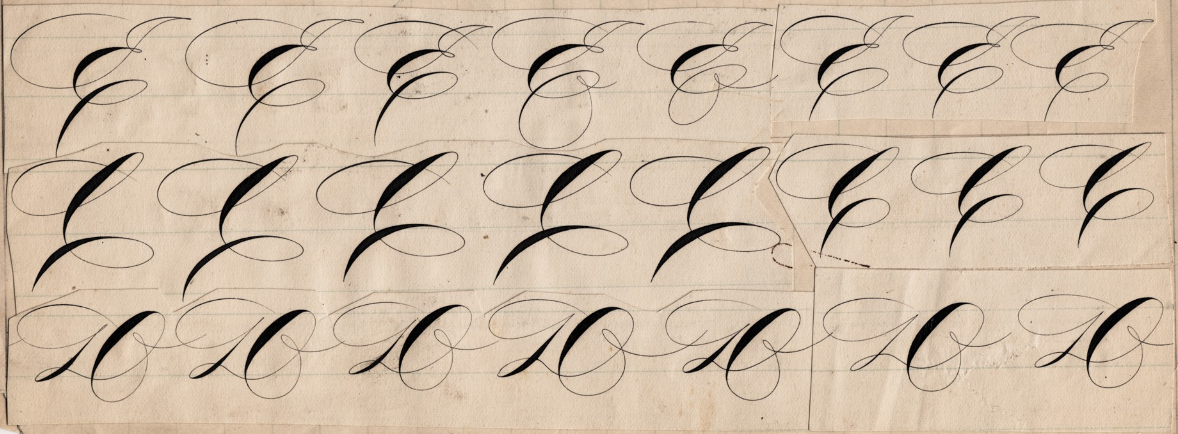

My thumb "has gone back on me" and I am greatly worried. I write with difficulty. But at my age, I presume I have no right to hold the nerve I once had, so I must be content to take a back seat.
